Patrice supports attorneys in education law and labor and employment matters. She assists with case management, legal research, document preparation, and litigation support.

Her work includes handling Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission complaints, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission charges of discrimination, and Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board petitions, unfair labor practice charges, and arbitrations. She also assists with collective bargaining contract negotiations and fact-finding proceedings, employee terminations and suspensions, and miscellaneous personnel issues.

Alongside attorneys, she helps clients, including districts and administrators, navigate workplace disputes, regulatory compliance issues, and matters involving schools and educational institutions.
